

Jamie Hitzel is a senior at Brooklyn College where she is majoring in Sociology and Urban Sustainability with a concentration in economics and business management. Her interests in interpersonal relationships and environmental involvement were realized after taking a class in Sociology of globalization and the environment. She learned about several social and environmental issues and interconnected and aligned with my passions for helping people and the environment. Jamie interned with Bibi in the summer of 2020 where she gained real-world experience on socio-environmental aspects present in our physical world. Jamie aspires to pursue a career as an environmental lawyer and help businesses assess and reduce environmental risks. In her free time, she enjoys crafting and volunteering.
